OUTLOOK Asian equity markets ended mostly higher on Monday as upbeat manufacturing and jobs data from the US bolstered optimism in the world's largest economy and US President Donald Trump revealed that his summit with North Korean leader Kim Jong Un is back on. US non-farm payroll employment surged up by 223,000 jobs in May after climbing by a downwardly revised 159,000 jobs in April. The jobless rate edged down to 3.8 percent from 3.9 percent in April, the lowest since a matching rate in April 2000. Japanese shares ended higher, with a weaker yen and solid data from the US buoying investors' sentiments. Further, Chinese stocks closed higher even as trade worries persisted after China warned that it will withdraw from commitments made so far on trade if US President Donald Trump carries out his threat to impose tariffs on the Asian country. Meanwhile, after crossing Rs 1 lakh crore mark for the first time since the launch of new tax regime in April 2018, the government's revenue collection under the Goods and Services Tax (GST) during the month of May 2018 has declined to Rs 94,016 crore, but it was higher than the average monthly collection of Rs 89,885 crore during 2017-18. The European markets were trading in green; France's CAC increased 25.48 points or 0.47% to 5,491.01, Germany's DAX was up by 39.46 points or 0.31% to 12,763.73 and UK's FTSE 100 added 54.37 points or 0.71% to 7,756.14.

TRADING STRATEGY: As on (04/06/2018))

BEAR CALL SPREAD:

A bear call spread is a type of vertical spread. It contains two calls with the same expiration but different strikes. The strike price of the short call is below the strike of the long call, which means this strategy will always generate a net cash inflow (net credit) at the outset.

The short call's main purpose is to generate income, whereas the long call simply helps limit the upside risk.

The profitability of the strategy depends on how much of the initial premium revenue is retained before the strategy is closed out or expires. As the strategy's name suggests, it does best if the stock stays below the lower strike price for the duration of the options.

This strategy breaks even at expiration if the stock price is above the lower strike by the amount of the initial credit received. In that case the long call would expire worthless, and the short call's intrinsic value would equal the net credit.

Breakeven = short call strike + net credit received

Maximum loss = Difference between strike prices of calls (i.e. strike price of long call less strike price of short call) - Net Premium or Credit Received + Commissions paid

Maximum Gain = Net Premium or Credit Received - Commissions paid

EXECUTION: SELL NIFTY 10650 call around 160-165 and BUY NIFTY 10800 call around 70-75. Maximum profit around 90. SI as per traders risk appetite
